Computer Guidance Corporation's eCMS[®] Software Receives Top Rankings in 2008 CFMA IT Survey

Scottsdale, Ariz. – March 14, 2008 – Computer Guidance Corporation, a leading developer of financial and project management software solutions for the construction industry, has once again topped several categories in the Construction Financial Management Association's (CFMA) recently-released 2008 *Information Technology Survey for the Construction Industry.

This survey has been conducted biennially since 1996 and represents the most comprehensive ongoing information technology (IT) study in the construction industry. Over 2,400 companies completed the questionnaire, making this the largest review of IT patterns in the industry. The 2008 survey was conducted in October and November of 2007 and was open to both CFMA member firms and non-member firms.

In the Job Costing/Accounting/Payroll revenue category, Computer Guidance retained leading status in the $101-$250 million and the plus $250 million categories. eCMS was also a leading choice of General Contractors in the plus $250 million category. Computer Guidance also secured a leading spot for companies in the $101-$250 million Specialty Trade Choice category.

"We're pleased to once again be recognized by this prestigious survey," said Roger Kirk, President. "The fact that we claimed top spots in these two highly competitive categories confirms the superior performance of eCMS and validates the strong confidence that so many construction companies have in our software solutions."

eCMS 3.6.0 is the centerpiece of Computer Guidance's family of solutions. This browser-based financial and project management software solution consistently delivers precise mission-critical information that empowers organizations with complete real-time visibility and control across the organization.
